Current job:

I have been working in a government organisation since 1997 and have acquired a great deal of work experience. I am working as the Head of District Livestock sector in Bhutan. My roles include planning, resource management, human resource development, policy implementation and evaluation of the development programmes in the district.

Relation to study at VHL:

With a major in international Livestock management, I have Bachelors' Degree in Animal Husbandry and Masters Degree in Agricultural Production Chain Management with a specialisation in Livestock Chains from Van hall Larenstien, University of Applied Sciences, The Netherlands.

The study at VHL is competency based and it provides the platform for theoretical concepts to be translated into development tools.
